Whale Shark

Isla Mujeres, Mexico- Whale Sharks!

4 Nights/5 Days

There is no denying it, Whale Sharks, reaching up to 65 feet long and weighing an astonishing 75,000 pounds, are among the most beautiful and graceful giants of the deep. And by far the most astonishing underwater attraction in the Caribbean is the much-anticipated annual Whale Shark migration that occurs each year from early June to mid-September, north of Mexico's Isla Mujeres. During this time, the seas around Isla Mujeres teem with marine life and not only congregations of Whale Sharks, but giant Manta Rays, Mobula Rays and more, frequent the area each year to take advantage of the plankton-rich waters and abundant fish spawning grounds created by the joining of the Gulf of Mexico and the warm Caribbean Sea.

This is an easy snorkeling-only tour that affords the most up-close and intimate exposure to these incredible animals possible, while maintaining a hands-off and respectable approach. Our private boat will take us on a breathtaking 1 ½ hour ride from Isla Mujeres and place us in the midst of an unforgettable natural spectacle that may also include sea turtles, dolphins and more. Whale Sharks and rays are commonly close enough to the surface to be just meters away and maximum photographic opportunities are afforded by swimming calmly alongside and among these beautiful, gentle creatures.
